Community and VSO resources for Assisted Reproductive Technology Services

VA is pleased to have the opportunity to provide assisted reproductive technology and infertility services, including IVF, for those Veterans who have given so much in the service to our country.

New legislation, (section 260 of P.L. 114-223, the Continuing Appropriations and Military Construction, Veterans Affairs, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2017), will enable VA to offer infertility services to Veterans who have a service-connected disability that results in their inability to procreate without the use of fertility treatment.

Moving forward, VA will develop proposed regulations that will implement this new law. A number of infertility services, excluding IVF, are currently part of the benefits package. It may be possible to complete some of the evaluation required for IVF, although that service is not yet available. Our community partners and Veteran Service Organizations are offering funding and resources to assist Veterans with infertility. Information about these programs is enclosed

Bob Woodruff Foundation (BWF) will establish an IVF Fund to offer financial assistance to affected veterans to cover unreimbursed costs up to $5,000 associated with IVF treatments. Application available: <http://bobwoodrufffoundation.org/ivf-fund-application/> For questions please email: ivf@bobwoodrufffoundation.org

Heart for Heroes: Ferring pharmaceuticals is offering select fertility products at no cost for Veterans with service connected injuries that have resulted in infertility requiring assisted reproduction. 1-800-515-DRUG (3784)

Compassionate Care: Patients who demonstrate financial need and have a valid prescription may qualify for 50 to 75% off the self-pay price of EMD Serono fertility medications or $10 off per unit after completing a mail-in rebate. Eligible patients can use the program for multiple cycles during each year. Patients must reapply each year. Additionally, depending on income, eligible medically retired veterans who do not qualify for the Compassionate Corps Program will receive an automatic discount of 25% off the self-pay price of EMD Serono fertility medicines through the Compassionate Care Program. These patients can also qualify for 50 to 75% off of EMD Serono fertility medications if they meet the financial and other eligibility criteria of the Compassionate Care Program.
